

Installation

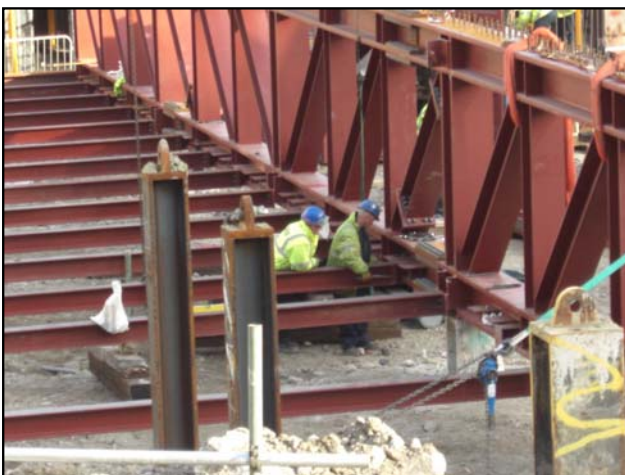

RJD's construction and contract managers operate the installation services.

RJD not only erect and install equipment and steel of our own manufactures but also equipment supplied by the customer or others.

This construction department also incorporates our site maintenance team, available for short or long term contracts worldwide. Fully skilled in all aspects of Steel erecting and use of lifting equipment, the team are thorough and professional.

Such is the experience available within the Department that complex heavy lifting projects have been undertaken successfully on time and on budget. Lengthy Manpower contracts have been operated with contracts up to £2 million.

RJD have installed portal frames, sign gantries and bridges to complex structures for leisure centres, hotels and material handling facilities.
